Article reproduction - Academic or Educational Use

The Company of Biologists allows librarians* to make multiple paper and electronic copies of single articles which are published by The Company of Biologists without charge, provided that the following conditions are met:

- Copying is done by a member of staff of the university;

- Copying is from the original article

The Company of Biologists allows readers* to copy, download and print out, for private study, single articles which are published by The Company of Biologists, without permission and without charge beyond the actual cost of copying, provided the copying is done by the person requiring its use or by an employee of the institution to which he/she belongs. Electronic copies must keep the article in its original form and any extracts of articles must be retyped verbatim. They may not be placed on the public internet or linked to or from an external or third party website. All articles and extracts of articles must include the identity of the author, the title of the work and the journal from which it is extracted.

Subject to the terms of the Licence, and subject to the paragraph below, the Licensee may incorporate links to Licensed Materials in Electronic Reserves for the use by Authorised Users in the course of instruction at the Licensee's institution, but not for Commercial Use.

- In Electronic Reserves the use is conditional upon employing persistent links to the Licensed Materials so that usage is registered on The Company of Biologists' online platform each time a student views the work on reserve. Each link shall carry appropriate acknowledgement of the source, listing title and author of the extract, title and author of the work, and the publisher as The Company of Biologists. Links shall be deleted by the Licensee when they are no longer used for such purpose.

- “Electronic Reserves” means a collection of links to Licensed Materials (e.g. journal articles) stored on the Secure Network by the Licensee for use by students in connection with specific courses of instruction offered by the Licensee to its students.

*Note that where The Company of Biologists reproduces any material with the permission of other publishers, you must seek permission from the copyright holder before using such material in accordance with this section.

Except as expressly provided for under this Copyright Policy, all copyright and other rights of The Company of Biologists in and to the Licensed Materials are reserved.

USAGE RESTRICTIONS Inter-library lending

The Licensed Materials may not be used for any fee-for-service, systematic supply or distribution of the journals in any form or any similar commercial activity to anyone other than an Authorised User.
